

Technip reselected for Dow Jones sustainability indices

October 4, 2007

Paris, October 4, 2007

Technip has been reselected as a component of the Dow Jones Sustainability Index (DJSI) Indices for 2007/2008. This is the sixth consecutive selection for Technip, which has been a member since 2003. Within the "oil equipment and services" industry sector, Technip confirms its leading position, having achieved the best performances in terms of sustainable development within a universe of 47 companies.

The Dow Jones Sustainability Index (DJSI), first introduced in 1999, is one of the most widely recognized international benchmarks for assessing a company's sustainable development performance.

The DJSI compares a company's performance to those of its peers, in order to identify best practices across the economic, social and environmental dimensions of corporate sustainable development.

Technip has been selected by DJSI for 2007/2008 as member of the following indices:

"Technip has made sustainable development a core element in its activities. We are gratified to see our commitment recognized with this new selection", stated Thierry Pilenko, the Group's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer.
